Occupational accident

What is the next step?

Occupational safety begins with every one of us

What is the next step?

1. Help
   - give First Aid
   - calm the injured person down
   - send for a doctor (or provide transport to a doctor’s surgery)
   - if necessary, call the police, fire brigade

2. Safeguard
   - safeguard the place of the accident (warning light, help pennant, acoustic signal)
   - safeguard the surroundings of the place of the accident (communications, construction components, stop the machine, disconnect power supplies,…)
   - secure documentation of the place of the accident (photography, drawing)

3. Report
   - to the employer of the injured employee(s)
   - to the trade union organization

   WHAT happened (what occurred)
   WHERE the accident happened
   WHO was injured (or how many persons were injured at the same time)
   WHO is reporting

4. Investigation
   - of the cause and circumstances of the accident (if possible, always in the presence of the injured)
Occupational injury

act calmly, judiciously, but promptly
